According to WFTV, officers from the Orlando Police Department found the unidentified man suffering from hypothermia. The officers assisted paramedics who were called to the scene in Orlando, Florida, on Friday. Police later found the man had been missing for nearly a week. For the last seven days, the man, who police don't know the man's age, has been locked inside a submerged, hot car, the Florida Highway Patrol said. Florida Highway Patrol Troopers found the man inside a 2003 Chevy Impala that was submerged in a pond. The man was taken to a local hospital and treated for hypothermia. In another case of striking a girl at the school, the Old Dhaka College has lodged a two-day shutdown notice against the men and women students protesting the rape of a girl student on campus. The notice has been issued against school administrators, to surrender papers and records and expel all the students who have violated the school's rules. "We have issued a shutdown notice against all the men and women students in protest of the offence committed by at least 20-25 men on a girl student," Principal Aslam Shazad of the Old Dhaka College told the Dhaka Tribune on Monday night. The administration held a meeting in the school's office on Monday night and asked the men and women students to disperse from their respective campuses. The campus has been cordoned by the police. Moreover, the Old Dhaka College has taken unprecedented steps to raise awareness on the issue, publishing a poster and campaign on the campus. However, a number of college students were detained at the gates of the school on the campus because they did not have an identification card. Many other students had to show their electoral cards to the school administration. The administration went on the students.
